

Engels on the Common Interest of Humanity Under Communism

In communist society, the interests of individuals are not opposed to one another but, on the contrary, are united, competition is eliminated.

Friedrich Engels,
Speeches in Elberfeld

Original article

2025-01-05

“In communist society, the interests of individuals are not opposed to one another but, on the contrary, are united, competition is eliminated.”

Friedrich Engels, Speeches in Elberfeld

Original article