

Lenin on Imperialism and the Prerequisites for Socialism

Capital in the advanced countries has outgrown the boundaries of national states.

It has established monopoly in place of competition, thus creating all the objective prerequisites for the achievement of socialism.

Vladimir Lenin,
The Socialist Revolution
and the Right of Nations to Self-Determination

Original article

2024-03-21

“Capital in the advanced countries has outgrown the boundaries of national states. It has established monopoly in place of competition, thus creating all the objective prerequisites for the achievement of socialism.”

Vladimir Lenin, The Socialist Revolution and the Right of Nations to Self-Determination

Original article