

Lenin on the Foolishness of Belief in the "Impartiality" of the Liberal Capitalist in the Working Class Movement

We are very glad not to belong to the liberal company of "honest" people and to those they regard as "honest". We would consider it a dishonour to belong to such people. We are convinced that only utterly naive or foolish people can believe in the "impartiality" of the liberal bourgeois, especially where the working-class movement for emancipation, i. e., its movement against the bourgeoisie, is concerned.

Vladimir Lenin,
The Bourgeois
Intelligentsia's Methods of Struggle Against the Workers

Original article

2025-12-23

“We are very glad not to belong to the liberal company of “honest” people and to those they regard as “honest”. We would consider it a dishonour to belong to such people. We are convinced that only utterly naïve or foolish people can believe in the “impartiality” of the liberal bourgeois, especially where the working-class movement for emancipation, i. e., its movement against the bourgeoisie, is concerned.”

Vladimir Lenin, The Bourgeois Intelligentsia's Methods of Struggle Against the Workers

Original article