A genuinely proletarian internationalist policy cannot be pursued, active opposition to the war cannot be preached, and forces for such action cannot be mustered while we are in the company of the opportunists and the social-chauvinists.

To find refuge in silence, or to wave this truth aside which, though bitter, is necessary to the socialist, is detrimental and ruinous to the working-class movement.

155 years ago, on April 22, 1870, Vladimir Ilyich Lenin was born. He was the leader of the world proletariat, the founder of the Soviet state, a revolutionary and the great theorist of Marxism.

Lenin's example teaches communists to fight uncompromisingly against various deviations. This struggle is more relevant today than ever.
