

Stalin on Private Property and Capital

“

JOSEPH STALIN

Marxism and the National and Colonial Question

Private property and capital

inevitably disunite people, inflame national enmity and intensify national oppression. On the other hand, collective property and labor inevitably bring people together, undermine national enmity and destroy national oppression.

US.POLITSTURM.COM

Original article

2019-11-12

Private property and capital inevitably disunite people, inflame national enmity and intensify national oppression. On the other hand, collective property and labor inevitably bring people together, undermine national enmity and destroy national oppression.

J.W. Stalin "Marxism and the National and Colonial Question"

Original article