

Stalin on the Weakness of Imperialism

The weakness of imperialism lies in its powerlessness to end the war without catastrophe, without increasing mass unemployment, without further robbery of its own workers and peasants, without further seizures of foreign territory.

Joseph Stalin,
Two Camps

US.POLITSTURM.COM

Original article

2026-08-16

The weakness of imperialism lies in its powerlessness to end the war without catastrophe, without increasing mass unemployment, without further robbery of its own workers and peasants, without further seizures of foreign territory.

Joseph Stalin, Two Camps

Original article